Observing the Passover Holiday

What to do and when to do it.
Plus, our most important tip-
Please don’t forget to enjoy the holiday!

By Batya Rosner
HERZOG LINEAGE
NINE GENERATIONS OF PATIENT WINEMAKING
FOR AT LEAST A MONTH BEFOREHAND, Jews perform significant preparation for Passover. The holiday commemorates the emancipation of the Israelites from Egyptian slavery more than 3,000 years ago.

This guide will help not only explain many of the laws related to Passover—such as when various customs and commandments are done—but will also elaborate on the terms associated with the holiday.

If you are unsure about any aspect of Passover observance please consult an Orthodox rabbi.

IMPORTANT DATES

PASSOVER BEGINS
The festival takes place from the 15th through the 22nd of the Hebrew month of Nisan, that is from Wednesday, April 8 through Thursday night, April 16 on the secular calendar. The restrictions of chametz begin on the morning of Wednesday, April 8. See times on page 5.

CUSTOMS BEFORE PASSOVER
A search for chametz is conducted Tuesday evening, April 7, and the chametz that is found is burned the next morning.

The eve of the holiday—this year Wednesday, April 8—is a fast day for Jewish firstborn males, commemorating the miracle which spared the firstborn Jewish sons from the Egyptians’ fate of God’s tenth plague—the last to precede the Exodus. In many congregations, a siyum is conducted, in which a portion of Torah is concluded—a celebratory occasion which allows participating males to break their fast.

Before Passover, there is a custom to give Moot Chitim, money for the poor to buy matzot and other food for Passover.

PASSOVER ENDS
All dietary laws and restrictions remain in effect until nightfall of the eighth day of Passover. Chametz which was properly sold may only be eaten once the resale is confirmed by your agent.

Chametz which was in the possession of a Jew during Passover, in violation of Jewish law, is forbidden for consumption by any Jew even after Passover.

OBSERVANCE

OBSERVING PASSOVER
The first two days (sundown of Wednesday, April 8 through sundown Friday, April 10) and last two days (sundown of Tuesday, April 14 - sundown of Thursday, April 16) are observed with Shabbat restrictions on work and creative activity, with the exceptions of carrying and the use of fire (with respect to cooking and preparation of food). An eruv tavshilin should be made on Wednesday, April 8, to allow for the preparation of food on yom tov that will be consumed on Shabbat.

The intermediate days of Passover (chol hamoed: Shabbat, April 11 - Tuesday, April 14) are considered “semi-festive.” Only certain work, activities and crafts, as defined by Jewish law, are prohibited. Ask an Orthodox rabbi for guidance.

PREPARING THE HOME
Keeping a year-round kosher home is not the same as a “kosher for Passover” home, since Jewish law forbids the consumption or possession of all chametz during the holiday. Special preparations for Passover include:

- The home must be thoroughly cleaned of all chametz.
- Any chametz that is not removed from a Jew’s premises before Passover should be sold and the storage locations leased to a non-Jew. Your Orthodox rabbi can help. For guidelines on what can and should be sold see page 44.
Happy Passover

From our family to yours.

MATZAH
Matzah is made of specially supervised flour and water, which must be baked before the dough has had time to rise – within 18 minutes or less. It is the only product based on the five grains (wheat, barley, oat, spelt & rye) which Jews may eat during Passover, and it must be made specifically for Passover use, under rabbinical supervision.

Eating matzah on Passover commemorates the unleavened bread eaten by the Jews when they left Egypt in such haste that there was no time for the dough to rise. Shmurah matzah involves additional steps of supervision and is recommended for use at the Seder.

GEBROKTS
Not eating gebrokts (Yiddish, meaning matzah that has become “wet”) is a custom by which some Ashkenazim will avoid putting matzah (or any derivative, such as matzah meal) into any liquid to prevent the possibility that improperly mixed dough, that might have any stray flour that was never exposed to water (and is therefore still susceptible to leavening), would subsequently become chametz when finally exposed to liquid.

THE SEDER
The Seder is a symbolic reenactment of the Exodus, with a compelling message for young and old alike. The Seder details the journey of the exodus from Egypt by Jewish slaves following a traditional order of blessings, eating symbolic foods, narratives, commentaries and song.

All cooking and eating utensils must be either set aside exclusively for Passover, or in some cases kasherred (in consultation with a rabbi), according to the procedures of Jewish law. See our Kashering Primer on page 18.

For specific questions, consult a local Orthodox rabbi.

WHAT IS CHAMETZ?
Chametz refers to any food created by allowing grain (specifically wheat, oat, spelt, rye or barley) and water to ferment and rise—most commonly referred to as “leaven.”

Even foods with minute amounts of chametz ingredients, or foods processed on utensils which are used for chametz, are not permissible for Passover use. Practically speaking, any processed food that is not certified “Kosher for Passover” may potentially include chametz ingredients.

BRIEF GUIDE TO THE SEDER
There are two Torah obligations and five rabbinical obligations performed during the Seder.

TORAH MITZVOT:
1 Relating the story of the Exodus (Maggid—reading from the Haggadah);
2 Eating matzah.

RABBINICAL MITZVOT:
1 Drinking four cups of wine (arbah kosot);
2 Eating bitter herbs (maror);
3 Reciting Psalms of praise (Hallel);
4 Eating the afikoman (an extra piece of matzah for dessert as a reminder of the Passover offering);
5 Demonstrating acts of freedom (such as sitting with a pillow cushion, and leaning to the left as we eat matzah and drink wine).
SEDER PLATE
A special Seder plate is arranged with symbolic foods to follow the order of the Haggadah. The prepared plate should be placed before the head of the household, or the one conducting the Seder, who dispenses the various foods to each participant. The Seder plate contains:

Three whole matzot: either on the plate or next to it;

1 Charoset: mixture of apples, nuts, wine, and cinnamon, symbolizing the bricks and mortar of ancient Egypt;

2 Karpas: a vegetable (preferably parsley, potato or celery);

3 Maror: bitter herbs (may consist of romaine lettuce, endives or pure horseradish);

4 Beitzah: a roasted or boiled egg;

5 Zeroa: a piece of roasted or boiled meat or poultry;

Also: a bowl of salt water should be placed near the Seder plate.

MATZAH
We are commanded to eat matzah three times during the Seder:
1 At the beginning of the Seder (with a special blessing);
2 For Korech (Hillel sandwich) together with the maror;
3 For the afikomen (at the end of the meal).

For details on the specific amounts and requirements, see below.

FOUR CUPS OF WINE
Red wine is preferred for use during the Seder. Each Jew is obligated to drink four cups of wine at these specific times during each Seder:
1 Start of the Seder, following Kiddush;
2 Before the meal (after reciting the Haggadah story);
3 Following the Birkat Hamazon (Grace after the meal);
4 Following completion of Hallel.

For details on the specific amounts and requirements, see below.

BITTER HERBS (MAROR)
Everyone is obligated to eat bitter herbs twice at each Seder:
1 Dipped in charoset;
2 Immediately thereafter, a second, smaller volume of maror is eaten with matzah in Korech (the Hillel sandwich).

Cooked or preserved vegetables are not suitable for maror; therefore commercially prepared grated horseradish, which is packed in vinegar, may not be used for the mitzvah.

RELATING THE STORY OF THE EXODUS AND HALLEL
Young children are encouraged to participate in the Seder to the extent of their ability. It is customary for the youngest person at the Seder to ask the Four Questions.

The formal part of the Seder closes with Hallel, which praises God and His special relationship with the people of Israel.

The Seder traditionally concludes with the singing of several lively songs celebrating the relationship between God and the Jewish people.

THOU SHALT STEAL - THE AFIKOMAN

For Jewish Children, “stealing” the afikoman and its subsequent ransom has been a Seder highlight for many generations. What is the basis for this seemingly odd custom? Do we wish to teach our children to act (even if only on this night) contrary to one of the most basic ethical principles? And then, as if to add insult to injury, we instruct our “precious little ones” in the art of extortion?

The Talmud in Pesachim states: “… matzot are snatched on the night of Pesach so that the children will not fall asleep.” Many of the classic commentaries explain that the Gemara means only that the matzah should be taken in haste or grabbed off the table. This is just another of the evening’s numerous atypical behaviors designed to pique the interest of children.

The first to actually use the term “stealing” to explain the Gemara was the Maharam Chalva (1290–1370), who wrote: “… it is customary to steal the matzah one from the other.”

It seems that the custom evolved over generations (particularly among Ashkenazim); first to steal the matzah from the children (as recorded in the earliest sources) and then to its present-day form, whereby children are the ones to steal the matzah.

Others explain the custom symbolically: on the night of Pesach, the Torah records that the dogs did not bark (Shemot 11:7). It was a common practice for homeowners to station guard dogs whose barking would scare away potential intruders. Perhaps the reason the dogs were silent is that Pesach night is a night of watching (ibid. 12:42), — hence no need for protection against thieves. To commemorate this, the children are given license to effectively “steal” the afikoman.

Although this custom is widespread and supported by many authorities, the custom is not without its detractors. It is reported that Rav Chaim Soloveitchik of Brisk and the Rebbes of Chabad discouraged this practice for the reason cited: it teaches young children that stealing is sometimes permissible. Others have recommended that even while preserving this custom we should restore the terminology of the Talmud, “snatch” vs. “steal,” so as not to describe explicitly criminal behavior.

Obviously, we must always consider the appropriateness of each circumstance. Some have suggested that this custom only be maintained between close family members, where it is clear that no genuine stealing is taking place. Not so between friends and acquaintances, and certainly not with guests or strangers.

An American student in the Mir Yeshiva in Jerusalem was invited to the Rosh HaYeshiva, Rav Chaim Shmulevitz’s home for the Pesach Seder. When it came time to eat the afikoman, the Rosh Yeshiva looked for but was unable to locate the afikoman that he had set aside. “Where is the afikoman?” he asked those assembled. The post-graduate student responded that he had stolen the afikoman and would not return it until the Rabbi would grant him a blessing. “Return the afikoman and I will grant your request,” the Rabbi promised. Once the afikoman had been safely returned, the Rabbi blessed him: “May you be granted more sechel (common sense) next year!”

As with the many beautiful and sometimes even odd customs associated with Pesach, each family is encouraged to embrace the customs of its ancestors. “And you shall communicate to your child on that night” (ibid. 13:8). This night is about transmission of our heritage, each generation to the next—all the way back to Egypt and forward to our ultimate salvation—may it come speedily in our days.
ONE OF THE MOST DAUNTING PREPARATIONS we make for Pesach is kashering, a process to prepare chametz utensils for Pesach use. As with all areas of halachah, those who are unsure of how to apply the rules of kashering to their situation should consult an Orthodox rabbi.

The Torah (Bamidbar 31:23) requires kashering utensils acquired from a non-Jew, as they are presumed to have been used in non-kosher cooking (and will have absorbed non-kosher flavor). Since chametz on Pesach is also forbidden, the Talmud applies the laws of kashering to chametz as well. There are four basic methods of kashering. The prescribed method depends on the utensil and how it was used.

LIBUN GAMUR (BURNING)
Utensils used directly in the fire (e.g. BBQ grate), must be kashered by placing them into fire. This process has the effect of burning away any absorbed taste. To qualify as a complete libun, metal must be heated until it glows. A self-clean cycle of an oven (approx. 850° F) also qualifies as libun. There is no need to wait 24 hours before libun, though it is advised. There is no need to scrub the utensil before performing libun, since the fire will burn off residue, but some cleaning is advised.

HAGALAH (BOILING)
Utensils that were used to cook non-kosher liquid can be kashered with hagalah (boiling in water). To prepare the utensil for hagalah, the utensil must be thoroughly cleaned. Only utensils that can be scrubbed clean should be kashered. Items that have narrow cracks, crevices, deep scratches or other areas that cannot be cleaned, cannot be kashered for Pesach. The following, for example, cannot be kashered for Pesach: pots with rolled lips, bottles with narrow necks, filters, colanders, knives (or other utensils) where food can get trapped between the blade and handle. After cleaning, the utensils should then be left idle for 24 hours. To kasher, every part of the utensil must make contact with boiling water. This process can be done in parts. For example, a large spoon can be immersed into a pot of boiling water for 10 seconds, turned over and then the remainder immersed. When the utensil is removed from the boiling water, it should be rinsed off in cold water. While strictly speaking these utensils may be kashered in a clean non-Pesach pot that was not used for 24 hours, the minhag, however, is to kasher the pot first, by boiling water in the pot and discarding.

IRUY KLI RISHON (POURED BOILING WATER)
If the utensil only came in contact with hot liquid being poured on it (iruy), it can be kashered in the same manner. If the utensil came in contact with hot chametz solids, then one should kasher by pouring boiling water accompanied by an even melubenet, a heated stone. For example, if hot pasta fell into a sink, stones should be heated on the stove, and moved around the surface of the sink while boiling water is poured over them. In this way, the water will remain boiling on the surface of the sink. The stones may need to be reheated several times, since they cool down quickly. In all other aspects the process is identical to hagalah.
LIBUN KAL (LIGHT BURNING)
In certain cases, libun kal is sufficient. This can be accomplished by heating in an oven at 550° F for one hour. This method of kashering can be used in place of hagalah. It is also used when the need for libun is only an added stringency.

NOT EVERY MATERIAL CAN BE KASHERED. Ceramic, such as china, and enamel coated pots cannot be kashered. It is the custom of Ashkenazim not to kasher glass as well. Some poskim do not permit kashering plastic or other synthetic materials for Pesach; however, the opinion of the OU rabbanim is that it may be kashered, if there is a need. Ask your rabbi for guidance. Composite stone (e.g. quartz counters) which is made mostly of stone, but is held together with resin, can be kashered. As a rule, materials such as metal, wood, stone, natural rubber and fabric can be kashered.

KASHERING CHECKLIST:

LIBUN GAMUR
Surface must be heated to a dry temperature of approximately 850° (i.e. self-clean oven) or until it begins to glow.

HAGALAH
Surface should be completely cleaned with hot water and unused for 24 hours.
Surface should be completely clean and dry.
The utensil should be completely submerged in a pot of boiling water.
Cold water should be poured over surface.

IRUY KLI RISHON
Surface should be completely cleaned with hot water and unused for 24 hours.
Surface should be completely clean and dry.
Boiling water should be poured directly over all surfaces followed by cold water poured over the entire surface.

LIBUN KAL
Surface should be completely cleaned with hot water and unused for 24 hours.
Surface should be completely clean and dry.
Surface should be heated to a dry temperature of 550° F (i.e. oven) for a minimum of one hour.

SOME HELPFUL TIPS:
It is recommended that one not wait until erev yom tov to run the self-cleaning cycle to kasher their oven, as this is known to be hard on the oven and repairs may be required.

Some newer self-cleaning ovens employ Aqualift technology that cleans at low heat; they should be considered like non-self-cleaning ovens (see The Modern Kitchen on page 20 for details).

Please note that kashering may discolor oven racks and stovetop burners. If racks have rubber wheels, the wheels may melt. Replacement racks for Pesach should be ordered well in advance.
THE MODERN KITCHEN

SILVERWARE, POTS & OTHER SMALL ITEMS HAGALAH (boiling in water)

Rolled lips, seams or cracks, which cannot be cleaned, will require torching of those areas. Utensils should be immersed one at a time into a pot of boiling water that is on the fire. Water should be allowed to return to a boil before the next item is placed in the pot. The pot can be non-Passover, provided it is clean, has not been used for 24 hours, and water is first boiled in the pot and discarded. Larger items can be submerged in the water one part at a time. Utensils should then be rinsed in cold water.

KEURIG COFFEE MAKER

HAGALAH OR IRUY (pouring boiling water) (for those who kasher plastic)

The coffee maker must be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours. Remove K-cup holder and perform hagalah or iruy on K-cup holder. Run a Kosher for Passover K-cup in the machine (this will kasher the top pin).

GAS STOVETOP LIBUN (burning) & COVER

The stovetop surface and grates should be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours.

The stovetop surface should be covered with foil. The stovetop grates can be replaced or they should be burned out in the oven @ 550° F for one hour.

ELECTRIC STOVETOP LIBUN (burning) & COVER

The stovetop surface should be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours. During Pesach pots should not be placed directly on the stovetop surface, but rather an aluminum (or other metal) disk should be placed directly under the pot.

The entire glass top surface should not be covered as this might cause it to overheat and crack.

METAL TEA KETTLE

HAGALAH (boiling in water)

The same treatment as for pots applies here. Although it is uncommon for anything but water to be put into a tea kettle, nevertheless it must be kashered. Tea kettles often sit on the stove, and it is common for them to get spritzed with hot food.

STAINLESS STEEL SINK

IRUY (pouring boiling water)

Remove drain. It is recommended that the drain be replaced. If this is difficult, it may be used if the drain has large holes that can be completely scrubbed clean.

It is preferable to kosher a sink by pouring boiling water in conjunction with an even melubenet (a heated stone). In lieu of koshering with a heated stone, some will place a rack on the bottom of the sink, or use a sink insert.

CERAMIC SINK CANNOT BE KASHERED AND MUST BE COVERED

The sink should not be used with hot water for 24 hours. The sink should be completely clean and dry. The sink should be covered with layers of contact paper or foil; it is best to purchase a sink insert.

SELF-CLEAN OVENS LIBUN (burning)

Remove any visible food. Complete self-cleaning cycle with racks in place.

NON-SELF-CLEANING OVEN LIBUN (burning)

Clean all surfaces (walls, floor, doors and racks) thoroughly with a caustic cleanser (e.g. Easy Off). Pay special attention to thermostat, oven window, and edges of the oven chamber. Black discoloration that is flush with the metal need not be removed. Oven should not be used for 24 hours. Place racks in the oven and turn the oven to broil (highest heat) for 60 minutes. A broiler pan that comes in direct contact with food should not be used.

Note: The method of kashering described above is based on the ruling of Rav Aharon Kotler zt"l. However, Rav Moshe Feinstein zt"l ruled that the oven must either be kashered with a blow torch, or an insert should be placed in the oven. Consult your rabbi for guidance.

WARMING DRAWERS LIBUN (burning)

Typically warming drawers do not get to libun kal temperature. Therefore, unless one is experienced in kashering with a torch, warming drawers are not recommended for use on Pesach.

HOT WATER URN, WATER COOLER

IRUY (pouring boiling water)

Urn only used for heating water: Run hot water through the water tap for 10 seconds, while pouring boiling water over tap.

Urn also used to warm food (e.g. to warm challah): Not recommended. Must be put away for the holiday. Water Cooler In addition to pouring boil ing water over tap, replace water bottle.

ELECTRIC MIXER

NOT RECOMMENDED

Because of the difficulty in cleaning out the housing of the mixer from fine particles of flour, one should not use their year-round mixer on Pesach. The mixer blades, though, can be cleaned and kashered with hagalah.

LIBUN (burning) & COVER

Remove any visible food. Complete self-cleaning cycle with racks in place.

CERAMIC SINK CANNOT BE KASHERED AND MUST BE COVERED

The sink should be completely clean and dry. The sink should be covered with layers of contact paper or foil; it is best to purchase a sink insert.
OU GUIDE TO PASSOVER 5780

MICROWAVES

HAGALAH (boiling in water) (for those who kasher plastic) The microwave must be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours. Glass turntable should be removed and replaced with new kosher for Passover surface. A styrofoam cup should be filled with water and boiled in the microwave for 10 minutes. The cup should be refilled and moved to another spot and the process repeated for 10 more minutes. Cardboard or contact paper should be taped over the glass window pane for the duration of Pesach.

THE SINK FAUCET (including instant hot) IRUY (pouring boiling water) Detach any filters or nozzles.

STAINLESS STEEL, GRANITE, COMPOSITE STONE (E.G. QUARTZ) OR FORMICA COUNTERTOPS IRUY (pouring boiling water) OR COVERING

It is preferable to kasher a countertop by pouring boiling water in conjunction with an even melubenet. There are different opinions as to whether formica (or plastic) countertops can be kashered for Pesach.

CERAMIC TILE COUNTERTOPS CANNOT BE KASHERED & MUST BE COVERED

The counter should be covered with a water-resistant covering.

DISHWASHERS

HAGALAH (boiling in water) Kashering of dishwashers is a complicated process and should only be done in consultation with a halachic authority.

REFRIGERATORS, FREEZERS, FOOD SHELVES & PANTRIES CLEAN & COVER

These areas should be thoroughly cleaned, paying special attention to the edges where crumbs may get trapped. The surfaces should be lined with paper or plastic.

Note: Refrigerators and freezers will operate more efficiently if holes are poked in the lining to allow air flow.

TABLES COVERED

Although wooden tables can be kashed, the common custom is to clean tables well and then cover them.

TABLECLOTHS, KITCHEN GLOVES, APRONS & OTHER FABRIC ITEMS WASH

Fabric items can be kasheded by washing them with detergent in washing machine set on “hot.” Items should be checked to make sure no pieces of food remain attached.

BABY HIGH CHAIR COVERED

The tray should be covered with contact paper. The seat, legs and bars should be wiped down with a soapy rag.

The late great Jerusalem posek, Rabbi Shlomo Zalman Auerbach, delighted in the various kinds of matzot brought by his children and grandchildren to the Pesach Seder. Some preferred the round handmade matzah from one particular bakery or another, while others favored square machine manufactured matzot. Whereas some might consider this preference a point of contention widely debated by halachic authorities, Rabbi Auerbach was very happy to see each of his offspring follow a particular position and preference, all within the legitimate parameters of halacha.

Matzah, one of the relatively simple foods that adorn our Pesach Seder, is, after all, made exclusively from just two ingredients: flour and water. At the same time, matzah is also the most complicated food, both halachically, with the particular way it must be processed, and in the myriad types of matzah available to consumers today.

SHMURAH MATZAH

One might think: What substantive differences can possibly exist between one matzah and the next? But distinctions have long existed between different kinds of matzot. While it is biblically mandated to “guard the matzah” (Shemot 12:17) from its exposure to water, which might commence the leavening process, early authorities have debated the point in time when the “guarding” must begin; at the point of harvesting the grain, from the milling of the grain, or only during kneading the dough?

Standard matzah is guarded from the point of milling the flour. Shmurah matzah is guarded earlier,
GUARDING OUR MATZOT, PERSONALIZING OUR MITZVOT

BY: RABBI NAHUM RABINOWITZ

all the way back to the harvesting of the wheat. The Shulchan Aruch states that while standard matzah is adequate for the rest of the festival, we should use shmurah matzah for the Seder night. Many use shmurah throughout the holiday as well. Under extenuating circumstances, regular (unguarded) flour may be purchased and baked into matzah following the most lenient position, provided that the wheat was not tempered (a process that involves wetting the grain before milling).

MATZAH’S MITZVAH
The Shulchan Aruch advances the position that the matzot used at the Seder should be baked on erev Pesach, after noon (the same time that the Korban Pesach was sacrificed). While poskim conclude that this is not a requirement, there remain some (particularly Chasidim) who maintain this position and who personally gather to bake their Seder matzah in the hours before the holiday. Other poskim have discouraged baking matzah on erev Pesach or on the holiday itself, because of the concerns associated with the potential of creating chametz at a time when it is already forbidden.

THICK OR THIN MATZAH
The Shulchan Aruch writes that the thickness of matzah may be up to a tefach (approximately three inches). Many poskim, both Ashkenazic and Sephardic, have discouraged baking matzah thicker than the wafer-like cracker we have become accustomed to, because of concerns that the baking will not be thorough and the potential for chametz.

Still, some Sephardic communities have a tradition to use matzah that is thicker than a cracker but nowhere near the permitted tefach.

MACHINE MATZAH
Until the mid-19th century the manufacture of matzah had probably not changed much over the centuries. With the arrival of the industrial revolution in the late 18th century, many traditionally manual processes were automated. In 1838 a French Jew by the name of Isaac Singer invented the first dough-rolling machine for matzah. That device was approved by many prominent rabbinic authorities in France and bordering Germany, including Rav Yaakov Etlinger of Altona.

The phenomenon of machine matzah moved eastward and in 1856 a Viennese baker established a commercial machine matzah bakery there. While this concept was endorsed by illustrious rabbinic personages such as the Lemberger Rav, Rav Yosef Shaul Natanson, it was also met with fierce opposition by renowned leaders like Rav Shlomo Kluger of Brody and Rav Chaim Halberstam of Sanz.

The opposition centered around a number of issues: 1) could the equipment be sufficiently cleaned every eighteen minutes as should be required for matzah?, 2) many poor people, who earned their livelihood from matzah baking, would be replaced by the machines, and 3) matzah for the Seder night needs to be made li’shma, with special intention to be used for the mitzvah; how can good intentions be delegated to a machine?

The machine matzah proponents defended its endorsement arguing that 1) dough that is subject to constant motion will not become leavened (chametz) (see Shulchan Aruch OC 459:2). Therefore, the constant motion of the machine precluded the need to continuously clean the rollers in the machine; in fact, cleaning the machinery could be done equally as well or even better than many hand matzah operations, 2) the machine baked matzahs would enable mass production, lowering the price of matzah which would ultimately benefit the poor, and 3) the matzah machines were no different than any other tool used in hand baking—like a rolling pin, the mitzvah intention of the operator was the key to making the matzah li’shma.

However, even today some maintain that not only must the matzah be kneaded and baked by hand, but that even the milling process should be accomplished with a hand mill vs. a motorized mill.

EIGHTEEN-MINUTE MATZAH

As mentioned previously, dough that is subject to constant motion will not become chametz. Standard machine matzah may be baked on equipment without cleaning for hours on end. Mashgichim carefully watch for pieces of dough that may become lodged in immobile positions.

Others prefer machine matzah that has been processed in the traditional method in eighteen-minute intervals with full cleaning between. Those matzahs are referred to as eighteen-minute matzahs.

PERSONAL INVOLVEMENT

Because of the sensitivities associated with matzah baking, in the Shulchan Aruch the Rema states that it is admirable for a person to be attendant for the grinding of flour for his own matzah. Certainly, for subsequent stages in the process it is preferable if the individual can be personally involved. For this reason, many participate personally when their matzah is being produced.

Listen, steak night at home will never beat The Loft. But with enough attention to detail and quality ingredients we think you can try. We can’t tell you where they got their cutlery, but we can definitely tell you where they get their meat.
NON-WHEAT MATZAH

Traditionally, matzah has almost always been produced from wheat. Halachically, any of the five grains—wheat, barley, spelt, rye, and oats—may be used to make matzah. With the growing popularity of baked products made with grains other than wheat, and particularly the desire or need to reduce or eliminate gluten from diets, spelt and oat matzah have become popular.

The required checking of wheat against sprouting caused by moisture is a tried and true, generations-old procedure. Because spelt and oats have not been commonly used for matzah, there are no traditional examination methods for those grains. Therefore, some prefer to avoid spelt and oat matzah unless it is necessary for extreme dietary needs.

Since oats must undergo a debittering process usually achieved with heat, liquid, and/or chemical additives, they present additional challenges. In response, oat matzah manufacturers have designed a special, non-additive method to debitter the oats that are used for matzah. Some have also questioned whether our current oats are a different variety from those in the Bible, which would make them unqualified for matzah. The aforementioned Rabbi Auerbach assured that our oats are indeed the biblical oats mentioned in the Torah and may be used for matzah.

Certainly, where there is need, the consensus of halachic authorities is that spelt and oat matzah can be used in place of wheat.

POST-INDUSTRIALISM AND OUR MITZVOT

As we grapple with the technological explosion of post industrialism, we are particularly challenged with the human experience engaging in our mitzvot. Many areas of Torah observance that were so connected to daily life are being delegated to others: separating challah, building the sukkah, binding the lulav, winding and knotting tzitzit, salting meat, roasting liver, grinding horseradish for maror, even preparing mishloach manot and the wicks for the Chanukah menorah—the list goes on and on.

Perhaps one of the unspoken concerns of those who discouraged the transition to machine matzah may have been over the depersonalization and delegation of matzah baking specifically, and by extension mitzvot in general.

The story is told of one of the great Chasidic leaders making his way by foot, bucket in hand, to draw water from the river for mayim shelanu (water left resting overnight required for matzah baking), which was at some distance from the town. One of the wealthy townspeople rode by in his carriage and offered the Rebbe a ride to the river. Responded the Rabbi, “I am headed to do a mitzvah. Why would I want to share the mitzvah with your horse?”

The verse “guard the matzot” is expanded by our sages to “guard our mitzvot” (Yalkut Parshat Bo). Our approach to mitzvot should apply to all of the mitzvot of the Torah, which are a gift from Hashem. In our contemporary, stressed-filled lives, it may not be reasonable to personally perform all aspects of each mitzvah, as they once were historically. Nonetheless, as we celebrate Pesach, we can hopefully still appreciate and engage in the beautiful mitzvot with our personal touch...
“I had to eat sooo much matzah!”

That’s a response I often get from people when I inquire about their Seder night experience.

Just as many mitzvot have distinct specifications in order to be performed correctly, eating matzah on Pesach has a prescribed time and minimum size requirement. Another obligation of eating matzah, though, is to be joyful as we celebrate this mitzvah.

One of the most common food-related measurements given by the Torah is the k’zayit—an olive’s volume of a specific food. The commonly accepted minimum obligation with regard to matzah is a fairly large amount that can be difficult to consume and even cause uncomfortable aftereffects—which can make it tough to feel unmitigated joy on yom tov.

In some circumstances, the excessive consumption of carbohydrates can even lead to health complications (see; The Diabetics Dilemma page 39).

The reason we have become accustomed to consuming so much matzah is, of course, the presumed halachic size of a k’zayit. Conventional wisdom has come to accept this as quite large and the result is an amount that many people find challenging.

I’d like to present another side to this halacha and offer a perfectly legitimate alternative.

First, how has the commonly presumed halachic k’zayit grown to be so big? The presumed halachic size is based on two assumptions:

1) the k’zayit is the size of half an egg, and 2) the halachic egg is twice the size of today’s common/contemporary egg (see sidebar).

Combining these two suppositions, the k’zayit results in the size of a whole egg. Quite large!

The above arguments notwithstanding, there are two compelling reasons to conclude that the k’zayit to be measured against is in fact our contemporary olive:

1. Based on recent scientific evidence, there may be strong reason to believe that the size of the egg has actually not shrunk from earlier periods. The Rambam on the Mishna (Eduyot 1:2) states that a rivi’it of water weighs the same as 27 dirham coins. Thanks to the study of “numismatics” (the science of coins), we now know that the Rambam’s 27 dirham are indeed equivalent to the weight of 1½ eggs—hence the halachic egg can be established to be the same as today’s contemporary egg.

2. Fundamentally, the Chazon Ish (OC 39, 6) maintains that the size of the olive (or the egg, for that matter) during Talmudic times is irrelevant. When Hashem gave the Torah to Moshe at Sinai, he gave a guideline that all measurements of food are defined by a k’zayit, i.e. the size of an olive. Since the original guideline was “the size of an olive,” this guideline remains constant. The Chazon Ish therefore argues that there can be no other logical way to preserve Hashem’s precise commandment. It is inconceivable that to determine the correct measurement we would need to seek an olive from ancient times to see how it measures up to today’s olive(s).

Accordingly, when seeking to define the size of a k’zayit, I need look no further than my local olive tree. That, and that alone, is the determining factor. Simply stated: “olive” = olive.

While some poskim agree with the larger egg size measurement for the k’zayit, the majority of poskim do not. For those easily able to consume the “large k’zayit” for the biblically mandated mitzvah of matzah (and as codified by the Mishna Brura), great. But it is perfectly legitimate, particularly if one has difficulty consuming this amount, to rely on the smaller, olive size. (For the OU’s recommendations please see “Sizing up the Seder” on page 15.)

Wishing you a fulfilling (not overfilling) and truly joyous Pesach.

HOW THE OLIVE BECAME (THE SIZE OF) AN EGG:

- The Talmud (Yoma 80A) states that the beit habliya (the volume of one swallow) equals the size of an egg. Elsewhere (Kritut 14A), the beit habliya is identified as equivalent to the size of two olives. HENCE, 1 OLIVE = ½ EGG.

- The size of the rivi‘it liquid measurements is equal to 1½ eggs. In Pesachim (109A) it states that the rivi‘it is the equivalent of 10.8 cubic finger widths. Two hundred and fifty years ago, Rav Yechezkel Landau of Prague wondered how the egg could possibly be equivalent to the doubly larger finger-based measurement. He concluded that the size of the egg (and olive) must have shrunk since Talmudic times by half. CONSEQUENTLY, 1 OLIVE = ½ ANCIENT EGG = 1 CONTEMPORARY EGG.

WHY IS MATZAH HAMOTZI?
ISN’T IT JUST A CRACKER AND AREN’T CRACKERS MEZONOT?
Crackers are in the category of “pas habah b’kisnin” (loosely translated—bread that is eaten as a snack). Since crackers are typically eaten as a snack and not as the staple of a meal, the bracha is mezonot. Although matzah is baked thin and crisp like a cracker, the bracha on matzah is haMotzi, since it is baked with the intention to be a replacement for bread. Among Sefardim there is a custom to only recite haMotzi on matzah during Pesach, when it is indeed eaten as a bread substitute. The rest of the year they recite mezonot. However, the practice of Ashkenazim is to always recite haMotzi on matzah.

ON THESE DAYS & NIGHTS EVEN THE BRACHOT MAY BE DIFFERENT.
BY: RABBI ELI GERSTEN

ON PESACH WE ARE COMPELLED TO SIGNIFICANTLY MODIFY OUR DIETS. Although at times the foods we eat on Pesach will look similar to those we eat the rest of the year (and sometimes even share a similar name), the ingredients can be vastly different. We trade in our bread for matzah and we replace flour with potato starch, ground nuts, or matzah meal. Figuring out the correct bracha to say on these “different” foods can certainly be confusing. Below is a list of some common Pesach products and their associated brachot.

WHAT BRACHA IS RECITED ON MATZAH CRACKERS?
Matzah crackers are mezonot. They are baked to be a snack, just like regular crackers.

WHAT BRACHA SHOULD BE SAID ON EGG MATZAH?
Egg matzah is also considered pas habah b’kisnin and is therefore mezonot. Although egg matzah looks like a regular matzah, it is made with fruit juice instead of water. Sefardim recite mezonot even on breads made with fruit juice, since they have a slightly sweet taste. Although the custom of Ashkenazim is to recite haMotzi on breads that contain fruit juice, unless they are very sweet like cake, Ashkenazim recite mezonot on matzah that is baked like a cracker. However, if we eat a meal’s worth of egg matzah or two squares of egg matzah as part of a full meal, the bracha is haMotzi.

WHAT BRACHA IS RECITED ON GLUTEN-FREE OAT MATZAH?
HaMotzi. Because oats are one of the five leavenable grains.

WHAT BRACHA IS RECITED ON GLUTEN-FREE MATZAH (THAT CONTAIN NO OATS)?
Shehakol. These crackers are made from tapioca and potato starch. Since they don’t contain any of the five grains their bracha is shehakol.

WHAT BRACHA IS SAID ON CHOCOLATE-COVERED MATZOT?
If the chocolate-covered matzah is made with regular matzah, the bracha is haMotzi. If it is made with egg matzah, the bracha is mezonot.

WHAT BRACHA IS SAID ON CHOCOLATE-COVERED RAISINS OR ALMONDS?
This is a matter of dispute. Rav Moshe Feinstein ruled that both the chocolate and the fruit are equally important, and we must recite two brachot. First, we should recite ha’eitz on the raisin (or almond) and then shehakol on the chocolate.

Others rule that since there is no clear ikar (primary) ingredient, the bracha follows the majority ingredient—ha’eitz. Yet others rule that chocolate is definitely the ikar and only shehakol should be said.

QUICK RULES FOR BRACHOT

HAMOTZI – Bread made from the five grains (wheat, barley, spelt, rye and oats) for which Eretz Yisrael is praised.

MEZONOT – Cooked or baked items made from the five grains that are not bread, and rice.

HA’GAFEN – Recited on wine and grape juice.

HA’EITZ – Recited on fruit and nuts that grow on trees.

HA’ADAMA – Recited on vegetables and fruit that grow from the ground.

SHEHAKOL – All other foods such as meat, fish, and eggs. Also, drinks or fruits and vegetables that are ground up and thus change their appearance.

COMMON BRACHA TERMS

IKAR V’TAFEL (Primary and secondary): When there is a mixture of foods with different brachot that are eaten together as one food, only one bracha is recited. The bracha is determined based on the primary ingredient. If the primary ingredient cannot be determined, the bracha follows the majority.

KOL SHEYEISH BO: This rule states that if a mixture of foods contains mezonot (from the five grains) that were added to satiate or to give taste, then the mezonot is always primary.

PAS HABAH B’KISNIN: Crackers, cakes, and pies are mezonot because they are typically eaten as a snack. However, if we eat a full meal of these items, the bracha switches to haMotzi.

TO’AR LECHEM (lit. shape of the bread): The bracha on bread will remain haMotzi unless it loses its shape in a meaningful way. Bread crumbs remain haMotzi (they are just small pieces of bread). However, if small pieces of bread are cooked or colored or otherwise no longer recognizable as bread, then they are mezonot.

WHAT BRACHA IS RECITED ON MATZAH MEAL?

Matzah meal eaten plain is haMotzi even though it does not look like matzah.

WHAT BRACHA IS SAID ON CHICKEN SOUP WITH MATZAH FARFEL?

If matzah farfel is added to the soup when it is cooked in the pot (kli rishon), it becomes mezonot. If a lot of farfel was added, the bracha on the soup is mezonot. If only a small amount of farfel was added, then two brachot should be said: first a mezonot on the matzah farfel and then shehakol for the soup. If matzah farfel was added after cooking to the soup bowl (kli sheini), it remains haMotzi, unless the farfel begins to disintegrate and cloud the soup, at which point it becomes mezonot.

WHAT BRACHA IS SAID ON MATZAH FARFEL CEREAL WITH MILK?

Matzah farfel is haMotzi. If matzah farfel is left to soak in milk until it begins to disintegrate and cloud the milk, it becomes mezonot. If some of the farfel is still intact, the bracha remains haMotzi.

WHAT BRACHA IS SAID ON CHICKEN SOUP WITH A KNEIDEDEL (MATZAH BALL)?

When eating chicken soup with a kneidel two brachot should be said: first a mezonot on the kneidel and then shehakol for the soup.

MATZAH BREI (FRIED MATZAH WITH EGG)?

Pieces of matzah that are smaller than a k’zayit (see chart on page 14) that are coated in egg and fried will become mezonot once they are no longer distinguishable as matzah. If the matzah brei still has the appearance of matzah, the Mishnah Brurah writes that there is an uncertainty regarding the bracha. Therefore, haMotzi should be recited on another matzah. If the pieces of matzah are larger than a k’zayit, the bracha remains haMotzi, even if it is no longer recognizable as matzah.

MATZAH LASAGNA?

If the pieces of matzah are larger than a k’zayit, the bracha is haMotzi. If every piece is smaller than a k’zayit then it is mezonot.

POTATO STARCH CAKE/COOKIES?

Shehakol.

MATZAH MEAL CAKE/COOKIES?

Mezonot.

MATZAH MEAL ROLL/BREAD?

HaMotzi.

QUINOA?

Cooked Quinoa is ha’adama. Cakes made with quinoa flour are shehakol.

MACAROONS?

Macaroons are made primarily from coconut. If the pieces of coconut are still visible the bracha is ha’eitz. Macaroons made from coconut paste or ground almonds (where the nuts are not visible) are shehakol.
This month shall be for you (the beginning of all the months).
Parshat Bo (12:2)

This statement, this gift from Hashem, is the first of 613 mitzvot Hashem gave to the Bnei Yisrael. Before the Exodus; well before they stood at Sinai to receive the Torah; before the parting of the Red Sea; before their journey through the desert; even before they witnessed the tenth plague, Makkat Bechorot, before their homes were passed over and their first-born sons spared.

What is this mitzvah? Why is it here, at this point in time? In the hours before the first Korban Pesach, before our redemption from servitude?

It’s the mitzvah of Kiddush Levana (sanctification of the moon). It’s a promise of renewal, of faith, and an eternal reminder of this exalted moment before the Exodus. The feelings the Bnei Yisrael experienced on this eve of their metaphoric rebirth—from slavery to freedom, from the burden of Pharaoh’s oppressive hand, to the Divine embrace of Hashem. It’s a promise of recognition that while His presence may often be hidden in our world, this presence comes out to greet us anew each month with each cycle of the moon.

"If Israel merited to greet the countenance of their Father in heaven only once a month, it would be enough for them."

In the beautiful words of Kiddush Levana, Rabbi Yishmael said, "Ilmalei lo zachu Yisroel elah l’hakbil pnei avihem shebashamayim paam"

The Talmud in Sanhedrin (42A), in the name of Reb Yochanan, informs us of a gezeirah shavah—a method of biblical exegesis.
We need to recognize that even the most basic elements of our lives and the world around us are gifts.

wherein two verses with identical terminology are linked to each other. In this case, the link is found between the words of “hachodesh hazeh lachem” (This month shall be for you the beginning of all the months) as referenced above, and “zeh Keili v’anveihu” (this is my God and I will glorify Him) in Parshat Beshalach (15:2), referencing the splitting of the Red Sea. These two linked instances, the splitting of the sea with its greeting of the Heavenly presence, and the mitzvah of Kiddush Hachodesh, sanctifying the moon, are associated by an acknowledgement of the presence of HaKadosh Baruch Hu.

How can these two phenomena be linked? The splitting of the Red Sea was a physical change that was easily recognized as a miracle of God’s making. A new moon, in contrast, is seemingly no different than the morning sunrise, often repeated, mundane—expected even. Why, then, is this ostensibly regular occurrence considered to be special? So much so that it is compared to greeting the Shechina?

Perhaps it’s because we need to remember and recognize that even the most basic elements of our lives and the world around us are gifts, little daily miracles awarded to us by our Redeemer. No less in significance than the plagues of Egypt, the Exodus, the splitting of the Sea, the manna in the desert, Matan Torah, and the ultimate gift of Eretz Yisrael. The moon, though, with its uniquely visible cycle, offers us a wonderful opportunity, an occasion to make a blessing in appreciation of the entire masterpiece of God’s world—each month upon its renewal, its rebirth.

Some commentaries explain that Hashem’s placing this mitzvah here, first, even before the Bnei Yisrael are freed, serves as a message to future generations. An emphatic and continued reminder of the euphoric joy of the Geula would combat the times our people might forget the majesty of this time—the miracles and events that led to Yetziat Mitzrayim—which, in fact, did occur throughout our history.

Hashem gave us a cycle of renewal, a roadmap to hold onto remnants of that jubilation and joy of deliverance. Through Kiddush Hachodesh we experience the rebirth of the moon each month, recapture the moment the mitzvah was given, and rejoice in its consistency.

Each year on Seder night we say, “A person is obligated to see himself as if he were leaving Egypt.” Perhaps we are meant to feel a bit of that joy and promise each month as well, as we witness and thank Hashem for the new moon and all the blessings it brings.
THE DIABETIC’S DILEMMA — A RABBI & NUTRITIONIST WEIGH IN

More than 100 million U.S. adults are now living with diabetes or prediabetes. Diabetes requires significant adjustments to one’s lifestyle, involving careful monitoring of one’s food intake and blood sugar level. Pesach’s carbohydrate-laden rituals and festive meals bring additional challenges to an already challenging situation. Nonetheless, it can be done.

THE FOUR CUPS

Although one can find dry wines with low sugar content, the alcohol in wine can induce hypoglycemia (low blood sugar), which can be very dangerous. Consequently, diabetics who take insulin may have to adjust their doses. Alcohol could also interact negatively with certain medications. Grape juice, due to its high sugar content (37g carbohydrate per cup), doesn’t offer a viable option.

Fortunately, both wine and grape juice may be diluted with water, minimizing the drawbacks for both. Alternatively, so long as the minimum amount is drunk, one need not drink the entire cup. Because it is halachically preferable to drink the entire cup and not dilute the wine or grape juice, many will drink the four cups on the Seder night (with their doctor’s approval). If one plans to do so, consuming a high-fiber, high-protein snack just before yom tov could offset a hypoglycemic event. It is also advisable to use a cup that would hold the minimum shiur of wine.

Consult with your doctor to determine which option is the best for you, as well as with your rabbi to ascertain how much water to add to your cups (if this is the advised alternative), and the minimum shiur required for a diabetic to drink.

THE MATZOT

Matzah is a high-carbohydrate food. Diabetics who are trying to control carbohydrate intake may be best off with machine shmurah matzah, which lists the carbohydrate content on the box. Here again, diabetics should be aware of the minimum shiurim needed for motzi matzah, korech, and afikoman, respectively, and keep any extra matzah eating to a minimum. Since fiber can improve blood glucose control and help one feel fuller, whole wheat matzah is preferable.

Some diabetics who take insulin must administer their dose within a specific time before eating. However, the timing of motzi matzah and shulchan orech can be difficult to predict. Make sure to consult with your doctor about how to best adjust your medication before the Seder to adapt to the change in schedule and menu.

SNACKING

For diabetics, every morsel of food must be carefully measured; snacking and unconscious eating can wreak havoc with glucose control. Make sure that you leave each meal fully satisfied. Eating high fiber foods slows digestion and makes us feel full. Yom tov meals should contain an appealing choice of non-starchy vegetables. Good in-between meal snacks include a fruit with some protein, such as low-fat dairy, nuts, or an egg.

With the proper planning and preparation, one can successfully manage his/her diabetes and enjoy every celebrative aspect of the festival.

OU Kosher and its technology division are delighted to announce the GE Shabbos Keeper (powered by Zman Technologies) for ovens, available March 1, 2020. This device revolutionizes our ability to utilize GE ovens for Shabbat and yom tov in new ways and with an ease never before possible—all halachically sanctioned without any compromise.

"Sabbath Mode," available with various oven brands, essentially disables displays, sound alerts and (if operating correctly) oven lights. It allows ovens to be set for a specific amount of time, similar to the oven’s standard timed baking feature. Usage recommendations require the removal of all food on Shabbat at one time without leaving anything to remain hot. Also, if the user wishes to use the oven without having to rely on any halachic leniencies, these modes require waiting for the “timed baking” cycle to be completed before removing food from the oven.

The GE Shabbos Keeper makes using an oven on Shabbat or yom tov simpler and easier - without relying on halachic leniencies. For example, unlike Sabbath Mode, the GE Shabbos Keeper disables safety shut-offs so if the oven door is left open, the oven heating will not shut off on Shabbat or yom tov.

1. The oven is pre-programmed to automatically prompt usage prior to Shabbat and yom tov
2. It effectively disables displays, sounds, lights and safety shut-offs
3. A special function allowing for opening and closing the oven door or removing food that does not affect oven heating functions
4. A “warm mode” for Shabbat. For yom tov (when cooking is permitted) the oven sets to a “warm mode” that changes in four-hour windows (prior to scheduled meals) to “bake mode” at an effective cooking temperature
5. The user can completely or partially remove food on Shabbat (and insert food on yom tov) while in warm (or bake) mode as many times as needed

If you are shopping for an oven, all models in the GE PGB911 line are compatible with the Shabbos Keeper. There are many more models coming soon.

For more details contact OU’s Director of Technology, Rabbi Tzvi Ortner at ortnert@ou.org.

Since 2018, the OU-approved GE Shabbos Keeper for refrigerators has transformed the use of state-of-the-art GE refrigerators for Shabbat-observant families. From the halachic vantage point, Shabbos Keeper disables all sensors that could be affected by users and puts the refrigerator into an auto mode. This allows for normal use of the appliance without having to rely on any leniencies typical with other Sabbath Mode settings. From a convenience perspective, the device is fully automated, turning itself on before Shabbat and yom tov and off upon their completion. Additionally, the refrigerator light remains on at 20% energy usage for the duration of Shabbat, irrespective of the door opening or closing. Initially compatible only with GE French door refrigerators, it is now fully compatible with any new GE refrigerator.

GLUTEN-FREE ≠ CHAMETZ FREE

With a plethora of gluten-free recipes, foods, and products available to today’s health conscious consumers, it’s easy to fall under a misimpression that a product labeled gluten-free would also, by the simplest definition, be chametz-free as well.

While in many, probably even most cases this is true, there are several examples in which a product can be gluten-free and nevertheless chametz. Therefore, it’s important to adhere diligently to “kosher for Passover” certification during the Pesach shopping season and certainly during the holiday itself.

For example, products that contain oats, or oat fiber, can be labelled as gluten-free and are nevertheless chametz. Ethanol and vinegar can both be made from wheat and are chametz, yet gluten-free.

Also, fermentation, a biochemical process, can yield products that are both gluten-free and chametz. Thickeners, acidifiers, flavors, and other specialty ingredients can benefit from this process. It is impossible to look at an ingredients label to determine whether any of the ingredients are the result of fermentation. Therefore, it’s best to err on the side of caution and only use products certified/labeled as kosher for Passover during the holiday.

SHOWERING ON YOM TOV – IS IT PERMITTED?

BY: RABBI MORDECHAI STARESHEFSKY

The Shulchan Aruch (OC 260:1) directs us to bathe each Friday in preparation for Shabbat. This year, those of us living outside of Eretz Yisrael will welcome Shabbat after a full 48 hours of yom tov. Most of us (if not all) would be inclined, if so permitted, to shower in honor of Shabbat. What exactly are the halachot involved?

There are two challenges to bathing on holidays:

1. When we turn on our hot water faucets, cold water enters a hot water tank and is heated. While heating water on yom tov is permitted, that permission only covers cooking and the like—universal needs for all. Bathing, however, in the times of Chazal (and even until the later 20th century), was not considered to be a universal need (shava l’chol nefesh); therefore, Chazal prohibited heating water to bathe the entire body [as opposed to washing the face, hands and feet, which was considered a universal need and permitted on the holiday].

2. We are not permitted to wash our entire body (which before home bathing facilities, was typically done in public bathhouses) with hot water on yom tov [even in water that was heated prior to yom tov], because it might be assumed that this is permitted on Shabbat as well.

In our modern world, it is safe to say that daily showering is considered a universal need. Does that change the halacha?

As outlined above, it is permitted to heat water on yom tov for a universal need (shava l’chol nefesh). Therefore, the first challenge to bathing no longer applies. What about the second ordinance? Would that prevent us from taking a hot shower?

Contemporary poskim continue to debate about allowing the use of hot water to wash the entire body, and therefore only permit washing part of the body on yom tov. The OU’s Rav Hershel Schachter has ruled that showering would be permitted, but only with room temperature water—not hot water.

There are additional factors to keep in mind if planning to shower on yom tov. According to both opinions cited above, a person would only be permitted to turn on the hot water tap if it is part of a conventional hot water tank system; hot water from a tankless, instant hot water system may not be used. Moreover, a bar of soap may not be used, because its use would transgress the melacha of mimacheik (smoothing); watered down liquid soap should be used instead. Hair should not be shampooed on yom tov either as that involves squeezing water out of the hair, which is another forbidden melacha (sechitah).

By the same token, when using a towel to dry off, water should not be squeezed out of the hair; it should be allowed to drip dry instead. Also, care should be taken not to squeeze the water out of the towel.
A common method for relinquishing ownership of chametz is to sell it, typically through an agent (a rabbi), to a gentile. The chametz remains in the house, in a closed-off area (e.g., a closet) that has been rented to its new owner. After Pesach the rental period ends and the agent purchases the chametz back on behalf of the original owner.

This option is time-honored and halachically sanctioned. It is, however, a device that some have reservations about relying on for chametz that, on a Torah level, a person is required to remove from one’s possession.

The Torah prohibition against owning chametz applies not only to obvious chametz such as bread, pretzels, or cookies, but to any product that contains a chametz ingredient that constitutes a k’zayit within that product. Licorice, for example, which contains a significant amount of flour in its dough, would not be sold according to this position but should, instead, be eaten before Pesach, burned, or otherwise destroyed. Such products are considered chametz gamur — “real” chametz.

If the food is only safek chametz (that is, there is some doubt as to whether it is chametz at all), it may be included in the sale even according to those pious individuals who avoid the sale of “real” chametz.

The foods listed in the chart on the opposite page are identified either as chametz gamur (“real” chametz) and, according to the stringent position, should not be included in the sale, or “not chametz gamur,” and may be included in the sale.

Many people who avoid selling chametz nonetheless have a family custom to include their whiskey in the sale.

1. Processing of pearled barley is mechanical and does not require use of water.
2. Follow family custom.
3. Some opinions hold that, even according to the stringent tradition of not selling chametz gamur, provided the chametz is not distinguishable in the product even if it is present at more than a k’zayit, it can be included in the sale (Rav Yosef Dov HaLevi Soloveitchik, quoted in Nefesh HaRav, page 177).
4. Although malt in corn flakes and crispy rice products is present at more than one-sixtieth of the product, in standard packaging the malt is less than one k’zayit of the package.
5. Contemporary milling production renders flour only safek chametz and therefore it can be included in the sale.
6. Flour as an ingredient in processed food is typically exposed to some form of moisture and should be assumed to be chametz.
7. Typically, non-GMO starch and starch derivatives (like maltodextrin) are sourced from Europe, and should be assumed to be chametz.
8. Wheat is used in traditional soy sauce production.
9. Wheat germ is a byproduct of the milling process – see footnote 3.
Q: What is the reason for eruv tavshilin?

A: When the second or eighth day of yom tov falls on Shabbat, or if Shabbat falls immediately after yom tov (as the third day of yom tov does this year on April 11th), it is rabbinically forbidden to cook or prepare on yom tov for Shabbat. When executed properly, an eruv tavshilin allows one to prepare food for Shabbat on yom tov.

Interestingly, there is no Torah prohibition to cook or bake on yom tov for Shabbat, even though ostensibly one may only cook on yom tov for yom tov itself. The Gemara offers two reasons why this does not constitute a Torah prohibition:

1. Shabbat and yom tov are considered to be one unit since yom tov is referred to as Shabbat in the Torah. Just as it is permitted to cook and bake on yom tov for yom tov, it is permitted to cook and bake on yom tov for Shabbat.

2. When one cooks or bakes additional food on yom tov, it is not a Torah violation because it is possible that one will need the food for unexpected guests who might arrive on yom tov.

If the Torah permits the preparation of food on yom tov for Shabbat, why did the rabbis institute the eruv tavshilin in the first place? The Gemara gives two explanations:

1. When yom tov precedes Shabbat, one may be prone to overlook the needs of Shabbat. The rabbis therefore established eruv tavshilin as a special tangible preparation for Shabbat. This must be attended to before the start of the yom tov so people will remember Shabbat as well.

2. If we were to permit cooking on yom tov for Shabbat without any reminder, a person might come to cook on yom tov for the subsequent weekdays, which would violate a Torah prohibition.

Q: What is the procedure for eruv tavshilin?

A: On erev yom tov, Wednesday, April 8th, one sets aside two types of food: one cooked and one baked. If one cannot obtain both items, a cooked item alone would be acceptable, but a baked item alone would not suffice. The cooked item must be at least the size of a large olive (approximately half the size of a chicken’s egg) and the baked item should be at least the size of a chicken’s egg.

The selected items are held in one’s hands while the bracha and subsequent Aramaic text, as they appear in the siddur/machzor, are recited. It is necessary to understand the text as it is recited. If a person does not understand the Aramaic text, it should be recited in his/her native language.

Q: When is the eruv tavshilin effective? Can I eat the eruv tavshilin food?

A: The eruv tavshilin allows preparations for Shabbat only on erev Shabbat, but not on Thursday, even if it is the first day of yom tov. In addition, every effort must be made to complete the preparations early enough on Friday afternoon so that the food will be edible well before Shabbat. Nevertheless, if the preparations were left until late Friday afternoon, they may still be done.
The food items used for the eruv tavshilin must remain intact as long as preparations are being made for Shabbat. Perishable items used for the eruv should be stored in the refrigerator as needed. If the eruv foods were consumed or discarded, the eruv ceases to be valid.

Matzah is used on Pesach as the baked item of the eruv. It is customary to use this matzah for an additional mitzvah as one of the two “loaves” of lechem mishnah at each of the three Shabbat meals, and to consume the matzah at the third meal of Seudah Shlishit.

Q: If one is planning to be fully prepared for Shabbat before yom tov starts, is an eruv tavshilin still necessary?

A: Rav Moshe Feinstein zt”l understood the opinion of the Magen Avrohom to be that it is not absolutely necessary to make an eruv tavshilin if one is fully prepared for Shabbat. Still, the Igros Moshe notes that even when a person is not planning to cook or bake on yom tov for Shabbat, an eruv tavshilin should be performed as a precaution for an unexpected need. Rav Moshe zt”l writes that a bracha should not be recited in such a case.

Q: What should be done if one forgot to perform an eruv tavshilin?

A: In this case, it is permissible to rely on the eruv tavshilin performed by the city’s rabbi since it is customary for him to have his community in mind when performing the ritual. This can only be relied on provided the eruv tavshilin was not prepared due to an oversight and not because of negligence. In addition, a person cannot rely on the rabbi’s eruv tavshilin for two consecutive yamim tovim. The Chayei Adam questions whether someone who had previously forgotten an eruv tavshilin may rely on the rabbi’s eruv tavshilin for a second time.

Another option is to have someone who made an eruv tavshilin cook for the person/household who forgot. In this case, ownership of the ingredients must be transferred to the person who is allowed to cook. This person may then proceed to cook, even in the home of the person who did not make an eruv tavshilin.

CHANGE!

CHANGE IS GOOD, RIGHT?

For me, not so much. Anyone who knows me knows I’m not a big fan of change...take this list of recipe substitutions for example. It’s listed here essentially so we can adapt our tried and true recipes for consumption on Pesach. To help the family cook navigate the changes and restrictions of shopping, cooking and baking for eight unique days. For some households, (mine, for instance) even a few days longer, as this year Pesach ends on a Thursday night, no one-day kitchen turnovers here...

This year, I’m proposing something different – well, the same, but a little different.

Recently, my family has endeavored to eat better—more veggies, less gluten, less fat. What that resulted in was a challenge for me to introduce new and different foods as well as ramp up the flavor on some less than favorite vegetables. So, you see, now, more than ever I need substitutions for things like chili powder, soy sauce, poultry seasoning, and BBQ sauce.

Whether it’s for old favorites or new delights, I hope this chart will help ease your way to a happy, healthy, easy and enjoyable Pesach food experience.

Two weeks before Pesach last year, Dan* lost his job. He and his wife, Sarah*, had a house with a mortgage, two cars, and three young children—and no resources to make Pesach. Sarah was trying to build a home business, but the timing was difficult. With heavy hearts and no other options, the couple reached out to Ezras Cholim in Phoenix, which runs the Arizona Kosher Pantry.

Dan and Sarah were grateful to receive staples such as baby food, matzah, and grape juice for Pesach, thanks in large part to the OU’s unprecedented 2019 Maot Chitim program.

Launched just six weeks before Pesach, the program had $200,000 to work with—donated entirely by generous individuals who gave their traditional pre-Pesach Maot Chitim contributions to this national campaign. Ultimately, the program provided free Pesach products for 53 kosher food agencies around the country.

The OU allocated grants to the organizations to buy select items from its partner, Kedem Foods. Thanks to this large-scale purchasing power the items were bought at a significant discount, which meant more food for people in need. In total, the program was able to help local agencies distribute 150,000 lbs. of food to 18,048 families in time for Pesach.

“[Dan and Sarah] are just one example of families we help on a daily basis at the Arizona Kosher Pantry,” said Julia Almoslino, volunteer food director at Jewish Family Service of Los Angeles’ SOVA Food Pantry.
Ezras Cholim. “Pesach can be a stressful holiday. There is the cleaning, the planning and most of all, the shopping. The shopping is daunting for all of us, but for families that are experiencing financial difficulties, it is a hardship that is even more difficult to endure.”

One lady burst into tears when I explained to her that we would be providing food. She explained that her husband recently lost his job and they had no resources for making yom tov. The number of heartfelt thank yous we received was humbling.”

The 2019 Maot Chitim program was the inaugural project of the OU’s new Kosher Food Lifeline (KFL). As a national organization with deeply rooted connections within the food industry, the OU is uniquely positioned to address kosher food access.

A GROWING DEMAND

Food pantries serving the general population are struggling to keep up with demand in recent years, with 11.1 percent of U.S. households experiencing food insecurity at least some time during the year, according to the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA). By all accounts, kosher food agencies are feeling similarly stretched—perhaps more so, due to the higher costs of kosher food.

For the approximately 225 kosher feeding organizations across 24 states, Pesach is an especially challenging time. While these nonprofits can normally take advantage of free food distributed by the USDA and other national agencies, at Pesach time this resource disappears entirely. The usual pantry staples—rice, beans, pasta—are mostly off-limits for kosher clientele, and there is literally nothing provided from those sources that is certified kosher for Pesach.

This is one reason some organizations had never offered food distribution for Pesach in the past. “With the assistance of the OU, we did a major Tomchei Shabbos give-out last year for the first time,” said Channie Goldstein, director of operations at Detroit Chesed. “The feedback we received was so overwhelming.

KOSHER FOOD LIFELINE (KFL)

was created as a national resource to help existing kosher pantries, Tomchei Shabbos groups, bikur cholim associations, and other social service agencies provide nutritious kosher food to those in need. We offer assistance with procurement, grant writing, networking, and logistical support to improve their ability to meet the needs of their communities.

Prior to this effort, each local agency worked independently, with little to no communication between them. Especially in smaller Jewish communities, organizations couldn’t take advantage of bulk purchasing to lower the prices they paid for food. In practical terms, this meant they were using their limited budgets to pay retail or warehouse prices for much of the kosher products they distributed. The OU recognized the need for a central address—literally, a Kosher Food Lifeline—that could help organizations come together to leverage their collective buying power.

BUILDING TOMORROW, TODAY
RISING TO THE CHALLENGE

“We serve different population groups, from families to elderly Holocaust survivors,” explains Dovie Katz, president of Tomchei Shabbos of Florida. “Sometimes we see them through a difficult period, like a job loss, and sometimes we help people who are chronically struggling.”

Katz’s organization assists approximately 60 households each week; that number jumps to 150 for Pesach. “The people we work with don’t want to have to take help,” he says. “Many of them can somehow manage to get by from week to week, but with additional expenses at Pesach, they can’t make it.”

The OU’s KFL is hoping to stretch the dollars raised by the OU’s Maot Chitim campaign even further this year. By negotiating lower costs for chicken and meat provided to agencies, they will be able to distribute those yom tov staples to more people. At the same time, however, we have received many more requests for help this year from organizations and kosher pantries trying to meet the needs of their communities.

As a community, we strive to help one another in times of need. There is arguably no more tangible form of chessed than making sure there’s food on a family’s yom tov table.

The dedicated staff and volunteers at the many worthy organizations across the country and the individuals who contribute Maot Chitim can take pride in the part they have and will play in helping people in our communities get through tough times.

“For families experiencing food insecurities, along with all that Pesach entails, just knowing that we are here to help them makes all the difference,” noted Almoslino, of Ezras Cholim of Phoenix. “We’re all trying to make everyone’s Pesach as beautiful and kosher as we can.”

“Names have been changed to protect privacy.

Allison Deal is the founding director of Kosher Food Lifeline.

Did you know...

2 in 3 Jewish people are carriers for a devastating genetic disease

Jewish genetic diseases are preventable through carrier screening

Genetics professionals recommend expanded testing panels that include many more diseases than Dor Yeshorim offers for anyone planning to start or add to their families

JScreen has transformed access to genetic testing:

- Online, at-home, available nationwide
- Screening done on saliva
- Highly subsidized
- Genetic counseling by phone to discuss results

Take Action. Take Control. Save a life.

Uplift your Seder Experience

with Haggadot from OU Press

THE SEDER NIGHT: AN EXALTED EVENING
presents the profound teachings of Rabbi Joseph B. Soloveitchik on the Haggadah, edited by Rabbi Menachem Genack. Bring the insight of the Rav to your Seder.

And available in Hebrew
HAGGADAT MESORAT HARAV
an all-Hebrew edition of The Seder Night: An Exalted Evening, with an expanded commentary and additional insights of the Rav on the Haggadah.

THE ROYAL TABLE: A PASSOVER HAGGADAH
culls the sermons and divrei Torah of Rabbi Norman Lamm for his insights on the Haggadah, edited by Dr. Joel B. Wolowelsky. Experience Rabbi Lamm’s eloquence at your Seder.

SEDER TALK: A CONVERSATIONAL HAGGADA
by renowned educator Dr. Erica Brown, offers a fresh and original approach to the Haggadah. Engage your heart as well as your mind.

UNLOCKING THE HAGGADA
Rabbi Shmuel Goldin focuses on the big picture of what the Seder is all about. In language and style that will appeal to any reader, from the scholar to the novice, this new Haggada is the perfect accompaniment for each Seder participant in the extraordinary journey which is the Passover Seder.

Why did the Chofetz Chaim & R’ Chaim Ozer Grodzinsky start EZRAS TORAH?

In an ideal world, those who devote their lives to Torah would be recognized as the spiritual heroes that they are. Support Ezras Torah’s Tzedakah Programs and make that ideal a reality.

In Eretz Yisrael today, Ezras Torah provides Housing, Emergency Medical Funds, Wedding Orphan Assistance, Yom Tov Grants and Special Need’s Grants and Loans.

Make a life of Torah devotion and commitment an everlasting edifice that will bring us the Rabbonim, Dayanim and Leaders of tomorrow!

Please contact me regarding establishing an Ezras Torah Fund for a: ❑ Loan Fund ❑ Medical Assistance Fund ❑ Endowment Fund

Please Note the Following Points:

- Many of the products contain kitniyot, some as the primary ingredient.
- Some of the products may contain minor ingredients that are possibly, though unlikely, produced from chametz-based raw materials. All such ingredients are used at a less than 1:60 ratio.
- Liquid versions of these products are preferable to their powdered counterparts.
- Products that contain flavors should only be provided when no unflavored alternative exists.
- Products should be purchased before Passover and stored and maintained separately from kosher for Passover Foods.

ORAL HYGIENE (TOOTHPASTE, MOUTHWASH) & FLAVORED LIP TREATMENT (LIPSTICK, LIP BALM) PRODUCTS: Rabbinical authorities disagree as to whether kosher certification of these items is required (both for Pesach and year-round). Consult your rabbi. Please see product pages in the Passover Guide for OU-certified toothpaste.

GUIDELINES FOR MEDICINES

1. Exercise extreme caution and consult with your doctor and rabbi before making a decision not to take a medicine.

2. Known and tested medications in the form of creams, non-chewable pills and injections may be owned, used and consumed on Pesach, even if they contain chametz or kitniyot, since they are inedible. This covers most medicines used by adults. However, if an equally effective chametz-free alternative is available or procurable, this should be used instead.

   A. It is permissible to grind pills and mix the powder into food items so that a child can take medicine on Pesach. However, a doctor must be consulted to make sure that the child is getting the correct dosage and that the potency of the pill is not compromised by altering its consistency.

3. Liquid medicines, chewable pills and pills coated with a flavored glaze are considered palatable and may contain chametz. Also gelcaps may present a problem because they may contain non-kosher edible gelatin. Therefore:

   A. If possible, they should be replaced, under the direction of a doctor, with a non-chewable, uncoated pill.

   B. If substitution is not possible and the person is in a state of sakana or safek sakana (any possible danger to human life), the medication may be owned and consumed. The same applies if the condition is not yet a safek sakana but may deteriorate to that point. A rabbi should be consulted as to whether it is preferable to purchase the medicine before or during Pesach, and as to how to dispose of the medicine once the danger passes.

   C. If substitution is not possible and a doctor determines that there is no possibility of sakana if the person does not take the medicine, a rabbi should be consulted. He may be able to determine that the medicine does not contain chametz and/or kitniyot, or he may decide that the medicine may be consumed due to the seriousness of the patient’s condition.

4. Unless an equivalent alternative is available, medicinal items which contain kitniyot are permitted for people who are ill. Questions on this issue should be directed to your rabbi.

5. These guidelines do not address the more general prohibition of consuming medicines on Shabbat and yom tov.
Sefirat HaOmer

Sign up for the OU daily sefirah reminder email @ www.ou.org/sefirah

Sefirah is the counting of seven complete weeks from the second evening of Pesach until Shavuot. The count, which takes place after nightfall for the following day, is preceded by the blessing only if done in the evening and no days have been missed in the count.

Visit www.ou.org/sefirah to receive an email reminder to count each day. Emails are pre-programmed to go out on each of the 49 days of the Omer to help make sure you don’t forget to count!

NOTE: IF YOU FORGET TO COUNT AT NIGHT, YOU MAY COUNT ALL OF THE NEXT DAY – BUT WITHOUT A BLESSING.
YOU MAY RESUME COUNTING THE NEXT EVENING WITH A BLESSING.
